Admiral Evans Lands Blue Jackets from the Missouri and the Indiana at Request of British Government.

Order Coming Out on Chaos in Quake-Stricken Jamaican Capital—Relief Supplies are Being Hurried to the Sufferers.

Kingston, Jamaica, Jan. 19.—The streets of this city are now picketed with American guards.

Admiral Evans, at the request of the British authorities, landed a force of marines from the battleships Missouri and Indiana.

Six hundred bodies have been recovered and more are being constantly found.

Dynamite is being constantly employed to clear away the debris of shattered buildings.

The situation at Kingston seems to be improving. Order has been re-established and the work of burying the dead and caring for the injured is progressing on an organized basis.

The work of sending in relief to the stricken city is proceeding with energy.

Kingston is receiving supplies as far as possible from the island of Jamaica itself. The American warships in the harbor have put on shore all the foodstuffs and medical supplies they could spare and the Jamaican authorities have taken charge of the distribution of all provisions in the city.

Tidal Wave Confirmed.

The report that a tidal wave had devastated the southern shore of Jamaica had not been confirmed up to a very late hour last night. Cable communication with the island has been partly restored, but even so,

THOUSANDS HOMELESS

Flood in Ohio Valley Reaches More Alarming Proportions.

FIRST FATALITY IS RECORDED AT CINCY-SUBURBS OF QUEEN CITY SUFFER FOR LACK OF LIGHT AND STREET CAR SERVICE.

Cincinnati, Jan. 19.—With a second rise reported at the head waters of the Ohio while the whole valley was still in the grip of the greatest flood it has known for more than 20 years, the outlook is indeed gloomy.

Every town along the river is suffering from crippled communications, limited fuel supply and a shortage of food, thousands of families have been rendered homeless and many thousand men are idle because of the enforced shutting down of factories and other establishments that gave them employment.

The damage likely to follow the necessary opening of the flood gates at Portsmouth, O., caused almost a panic there, adding to the suffering resulting from the cutting off of the natural gas supply.

Chills in Darkness.
A number of cities were in darkness last night because of broken gas mains or flooded light plants.

Newport, Ky., suffered the cutting off of its gas supply during the day and a complete shutdown of the electric light plant that supplies the electric car system in that part of the Kentucky suburbs, while Covington is threatened with a like cutting off of gas supply.

Service on railroads, traction and city electric lines was generally suspended.

crippled along the full length of the river.

In this city and suburbs several car lines were put entirely out of business. The flood has invaded the front street pumping station of the Cincinnati waterworks, but the new waterworks will be put in service to protect the city from any shortage and suffering.

First Flood Fatality.
James Demmons, aged 20 years, was killed by a train while moving household goods yesterday. It was the first death reported in this city due to flood conditions.

The rising river has gone far above the landing places along the river and those places that depend on the river solely have been cut off from their source of supplies.

At Ironton more than 100 families were driven from their homes, at Portsmouth 1,000 refugees are in the schools and other vacant buildings.

At Newport, Ky., 300 families have had to be cared for. In this city 1,000 families are homeless and more are being driven from their homes hourly, while similar reports come in from nearly all towns along the river.

The Faithful Helpers will meet Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Robert Calkins on north Jackson street.

LET POOR HELP THEMSELVES; CORPORATIONS ARE TOO SMALL

—CHANCELLOR JAMES ROSCOE DAY.

John D's Friend Attacks Wage Earner, the Majority of Whom He Says Earn More Than They Deserve—"Labor Unionism is Acme of Despotism."

Says Railroads Should Be Given a Free Hand to Do What They Want to and Not Be Hampered by Congress.

New York, Jan. 19.—The Rev. Dr. James Roscoe Day, chancellor of Syracuse university, in his address to the Syracuse Alumni association at its annual dinner at the Hotel Astor last night, attacked the arguments in favor of the poor and charitable and philanthropic movements, which had been advanced a few moments before by J. G. Phelps Stokes and Rose Pastor Stokes, his wife.

"What is all this cry that is being made about the poor wage earner," asked Dr. Day. "The wage earners get enough for what they do and a great many of them get more."

"I know the poor."

"I have been among them and have studied them."

"I know that they are the chief support to upwards of 10,000 saloons in this city. I know that they are the chief causes of intemperance and shiftlessness, and then the blame is put on the hard-hearted corporations."

"We should cease some of the philanthropy which we practice and help the poor to learn their duty, and to make them help themselves."

"I once asked a contractor why he asked so high a price for building. He said 'I cannot get mechanics,' and it's no wonder he couldn't. They won't allow mechanics to be made nowadays; every man (climbing over the other to assist his own progress."

"I believe there is not a greater piece of despotism that rules today than labor unionism. It is a hindrance itself to the advance of man."

"I believe in large things, large corporations. The corporations are not large enough, the railroads are not large enough."

"The railroads are being taxed by commerce and traffic, and instead of being discouraged by acts of congress they should be given free reign to reach the limit of their necessities unhindered."

The addresses of Mr. and Mrs. Stokes, which were criticised by Dr. Day, not in a personal way, as he put it, were on the subject of their work among the settlement houses of this city.

Mrs. W. L. McKenzie, who is in New Haven, Ct., to attend the Junior Yale "prom" week, will be the guest of honor at a large college tea to be given by Mr. Holmes McKenzie this afternoon.

OIL MEN GET MORE TIME FOR HEARING

CASES BEFORE OHIO RAILWAY COMMISSION CONTINUED TILL MARCH 19.

Cleveland, Jan. 19.—The hearing of the complaints filed with the Ohio State Railway Commission by the National Petroleum Association was adjourned Thursday until March 19, at the request of C. D. Chamberlain, secretary of the association, who asked for time to procure additional evidence deemed essential to its case.

Mr. Chamberlain returned Thursday night and yesterday expressed confidence that they would be able to maintain their charges against the various Ohio railroads which are charged with the maintenance of discriminatory rates on oil shipments within the State.

"There is some additional evidence we feel necessary to complete our case," he said, "and this delay will not only give us an opportunity to develop this but also to give attention to the interstate commerce hearings which we expect will be set for Cleveland some time next month."

"Much importance will attach to these hearings, as it is altogether probable that they will not be confined to local matters, but will deal with conditions of national interest."

Mr. John L. Doty and wife of Crystal, Mich., are visiting Mr. Doty's sister, Mrs. Rev. W. R. Arnold, of south Pine street.

COLD GRUB

WAS WHAT MANY A LIMA MAN HAD FOR BREAKFAST THIS MORNING BECAUSE OF BREAKING OF NATURAL GAS PIPE.

Many a Lima man, and woman too for that matter, went about the day's duties this morning without anything resembling a warm breakfast. In many instances it was cold grub or nothing.

This uncomfortable necessity was the result of the washing away by the high water of the pipes of the Lima Natural Gas Company's twelve inch pipe at a point one mile this side of Marysville and twelve miles from this city, the exact location being close to the Harding county line.

When the housewives and cooks of the city attempted to start the fires this morning they were dismayed to find that the pipes were gasless. In the dilemma a few dug up discarded gasoline stores and a few others switched to illuminating gas, but the great majority, and in this instance by no means a silent majority ate cold victuals and tried to look pleasant.

A crew was hurried to the location of the broken pipe, but it was one o'clock before the new sections were installed and the consumers were again supplied.

RAGING TORRENT

IS THE OTTAWA RIVER AS A RESULT OF LAST NIGHT'S RAINFALL AND THE MELTING SNOW—RISING AT RATE OF TWO INCHES HOURLY.

The ordinary placid bosom of the Ottawa river is again turbulent, last night's rainfall and the rapidly melting snow having swollen it out of all semblance to its ordinary appearance.

Since daylight this morning it has been rising at the rate of two inches an hour and already great damage and inconvenience has resulted.

At all points where there are lowlands along the shores of the stream there are overflows. In the tract east of south Main street and between Rowland's Row and the stream many one-story houses have already been vacated, while the denizens of the two-story buildings have removed to the upper floors. All the cellars, basements in the neighborhood are flooded.

The continued warm weather renders the situation exceedingly alarming, as with every inch the stream continues to rise additional damage will result.

—N. L. Michael of the Michael Clothing and Shoe Co., has in the last fifteen years purchased and sold nearly three hundred town lots, most by on the installment plan. He is now laying out two tracts of land comprising about twenty-four acres and will place about 100 lots on the market during the coming season. In most instances he has graded the streets, put down concrete sidewalks and planted shade trees, while on about one hundred of the lots he has built houses for the purchasers.

Bankers Arrested; Larceny

President of Firm of Cohen & Company and Pittsburgh Manager are Accused of Stealing More Than Million Dollars.

Pittsburg, Pa., January 19.—Henry Cohen, head of the banking house of Henry Cohen & Co., No. 71 Broadway, New York, was committed to jail last night on a charge of stealing valuable documents and embezzlement as trustee, made by H. G. Kimmick, Pittsburg manager for Cohen & Co.

A few hours previous to Cohen's arrest, Kimmick had been arrested on complaint of Cohen, charged with the theft of money, check and stock certificates to the value of $1,000,000.

Kimmick furnished bail in the sum of $100,000 before Alderman Mc Masters for a hearing next Wednesday afternoon.

He immediately swore out a warrant against Cohen before Alderman McNovell and at a late hour last night Cohen was unable to secure $3,000 bail for his release. The arrests are the result of an investigation into the Pittsburg office of Cohen & Co., who are financing a railway company being constructed in Armstrong county, Pennsylvania.

When arrested and searched Cohen had $51,000 worth of 6 per cent good bonds of the railway company and $2,000 in cash.

MISNOMER

IS FREE BAGGAGE ARRANGEMENT—A RANK INJUSTICE

Is being done by the Western Ohio to the People of St. Marys, New Bremen and Celina.

(St. Marys Leader.)

By its recent ruling that all baggage up to 150 pounds shall be carried free on its lines where the fare amounts to 25 cents the Western Ohio has unconsciously discriminated against St. Marys and no end of protests is being registered at the local station of the Interurban company. For example, the fare from St. Marys to Wapakoneta is 20 cents. The same fare obtains between this city and Celina, and the fact that the fare does not amount to 25 cents is what works the injustice, if not the hardship. The "free baggage" inducement, so far as the people of St. Marys are concerned is a misnomer, because when taking passage to either Wapakoneta or Celina they must pay full rate for the transportation of their baggage.

A representative of this paper has heard a great deal of complaint against this unjust discrimination among the commercial travelers about the local hotels. One travel agent informed us that he checked 350 pounds of baggage from Beaver Dam to St. Marys over the Western Ohio for 30 cents. To check this same amount from St. Marys to Wapakoneta cost him 55 cents. He said further that he checked this amount from Bluffton to Beaver Dam for 30 cents, the same rate charged by the steam road, the two roads being in closer competition at those points.

Another traveling man checked 450 pounds baggage from Lima to St. Marys and paid 45 cents excess. He checked the same amount from St. Marys to New Bremen and it cost him 70 cents.

All passengers from St. Marys having a trunk and wishing to check the same to Wapakoneta or Celina where they can connect with steam roads going north or south, must pay at least 25 cents, while they can check the same piece of baggage to Lima, Sidney or even Orderville and have it hauled free of charge.

New Bremen, Minister and Cellas passengers are thus encouraged to leave the T. & O. C. going to and coming from Columbus, at Wapakoneta rather than St. Marys, because the Western Ohio will check their baggage weighing 150 pounds or less, free of charge, whilst they will be charged 25 cents for this same amount of baggage if they want to take or leave the T. & O. C. at St. Marys.

A ticket can be procured on either of the steam roads from this place to Wapakoneta or Celina for 20 cents, and 150 pounds of baggage will be carried free of charge. It can easily be seen how the "free baggage" innovation of the Western Ohio is working a great injustice to St. Marys.

A God-Given Medicine

Rev. John C. Orebough, a prominent clergyman and temperance advocate, says that DUFFY'S PURE MALT WHISKEY is a God-Given Medicine.

"I have suffered from irregular appetite, diarrhoea, then constipation, abnormal temperature, often below normal; at times the memory is dull and I feel stupid. I have tried many treatments with no beneficial results. Pardon me to furthermore say that I have always been opposed to whiskey as a beverage, but have always believed that PURE whiskey used as a medicine was a God-Given one. I NEVER found PURE until I got 'DUFFY'S.' The best I could get seemed to increase my trouble and would burn in my stomach, but I find nothing disagreeable with DUFFY'S. It has done me a vast good and I trust others may use it through my recommendation."

—(Rev.) JOHN C. OREBOUGH, Anderson, Ind., Oct., 2, 1906.

VOYAGE OF THE "HERALD"

The Famous City of Lima and the Wonderful Pyramids.

(Lima Advertiser.)
Cable, Egypt, Oct. 10, 1919.
Ad. Advertiser.

Exactly at four o'clock on the following morning there came a gentle rapping at the chamber door, which was immediately answered. I was wide awake, indeed never had slept only to be wakened in the morning. I went to the door and found the summons of the dusky Egyptian boy to arise and get about our business. There is one, or maybe two things, which surprises visitors in Egypt for the first time. We had discovered one on our way to Cairo. Many of us had shivered in quite a decided manner in the desert wind. I know that I had always thought of Egypt as a land of burning suns and shifting deserts. Neither of them is exactly true: for during that day I wore clothing that would have been intolerable in the Philippines, and suffered not the least discomfort from the heat. Observations of the clothing of the Egyptians themselves plainly indicate that the climate is not a warm affair at all. The second thing that will surprise you is the "mosquito." My oh!—but how they bite! I had not taken the precaution to draw the "mosquito" net on retiring and that is how I know. They are as large as the Missouri variety and as noisy as those in the Philippines. I felt like one big wet when I arose in answer to that early call. These are two things you can learn about Egypt without having to dispense (baksheesh) baksheesh! gift! gift! in the learning thereof.

Four of us had arranged to make the trip early in order to avoid the horde of Bedouins whose insistence and persistence are so annoying and to get a view from the top of Cheops at sunrise. None had rested thoroughly from the trip, but the return seemed to us worth the effort. Our dragoman (guide) was ready with a carriage and driver and before the eastern sky began to herald the dawn we were on our way through the streets of the bustling city to the Pyramids of Gizeh. In half an hour we came to the bridge across the Nile which, now at dawn, appeared big and dark and cold in the desert darkness of the early morning. It was left for our return to look upon this majestic river and the great work which it performs for the farming thousands along its banks from Nubia to the sea.

But not all slept. We were in the land where the Shepherds tended their flocks by night; and as we took our way from the almost deserted streets to the splendid driveway which leads across the flag flood lands, the Shepherds and their flocks passed us, perhaps just as had been done for centuries. There were great caravans, too, come from beyond the desert wastes, the patient camels heavily laden with treasures of trade, entering the city in the dawn and cool of the early morning, after many days of parching heat and sand storms. Thus this land of history

OXYOLINE GAS FOR INHALING.

Vitality depends on good blood. Oxyoline Gas makes good blood. When there is good rich blood there is perfect nutrition, and, consequently, good health. Oxyoline Gas is a superb agent in influencing the proper functions of elimination and assimilation. It builds up wasted tissues and assists nature in eliminating those which are diseased and is unexcelled as an alternative and blood maker. It should always be used when the blood lacks that vital element, hemoglobin.

Oxyoline Gas promotes appetite, improves digestion, induces refreshing sleep, makes good, rich, red blood, tones up the nervous system, strengthens the heart and gives general renewed strength and vitality.

OXYOLINE TREATMENT FOR CONSUMPTION.

Two cases out of every three treated with Oxyoline have been cured by oxyoline treatment. Oxyoline has no equal in curing Consumption. No other treatment has ever produced such good results.

OXYOLINE is a certain and speedy cure for Syphilis.

176 cases of Syphilis in the various stages and conditions treated and cured with Oxyoline without a single failure. Not one case could show any symptoms of existing activity of the disease after the first six weeks of treatment by the Oxyoline method. The Oxyoline method of treatment is now known as an unquestionable and absolute specific in syphilis. It surpasses the famous Hot Springs of Arkansas in treating Syphilis, and no potash or mercury after effects.

PURE BLOOD AND DISEASE ARE STRANGERS TO EACH OTHER. THEY CANNOT EXIST TOGETHER IN THE SAME BODY.

This Treatment can be had at Longroy's Bathatorium, 216-218 West Market Street, Lima, Ohio.

and mystery and tradition seemed to be natural setting from these scenes. These took us back over the years in spite of the fact that we were riding in a closed carriage over a splendid driveway on the side of which we could see the rails and lines of the railway.

The eastern sky began to pale, revealing the flooded lowlands, patches of green here and there and the way for wheels for irrigation after the flood subsided. There were now many things to see, camel or donkey, some of them, others as our selves toward the desert—and the Pyramids of Gizeh.

"Oh look! Look! Yes, I can see the Pyramids," cried Mrs. F., leaning out of the carriage window and looking toward the desert borders which all of us could see. And of course all looked and all saw six thousand years looming up in the distance in the mellow light of the desert dawn.

"Oh how disappointing!" said one who hails from the sunny south. And I guess all voiced the same sentiments. Indeed, seen from that distance in the uncertain light, forgetful of what it was, Cheops seemed a little, an insignificant pile of gray rock. It was only when we climbed and walked around it and stood and gazed at it, that it seemed what it was—one of the wonders of the world.

In a little hotel by the roadside we took a cup of coffee and had their fortunes told by the natives. We needed money but didn't know where to get it. And it was here that we received salutes from the mosquito brigade. "It is an awful nuisance, don't you know," to have to shiver and slap mosquitoes at the same time. But it makes you wonder a little, too. Our big dragoman went below to see why our coffee did not appear, while we slipped about over the floor to get our thin blood to moving faster. It was really cold. To the east, the pale gray of the flooded plains was growing whiter and lighter, while the billows of the desert sands to the westward seemed like a great dead ocean silent, immense, terrible.

Bedouins, great in stature, white-robed, bearded, trooped into the coffee house or stood awaiting their victims. Even at this early hour we were none too soon. Others of our party had stopped for coffee, but a glimpse of Cheops through the leaves of the great trees and the rapidly coming day proved greater than any desire for coffee, and so they scaled high fences in the rear to avoid the Bedouins and made their way to the great Pyramid. Our own patience was being tested a little too well. But the coffee finally came after much insistence and persuasion.

It was not far from the coffee house to where we wanted to go. A yellow wall, sand, drifted lane leads up a steep grade, up which the dragoman said the little steeds could not pull the carriage. We thought it was just a little game he was playing and so insisted that the trial should be made. But events proved that, at least, there was one honest man in Egypt, and after several unsuccessful attempts to get through the wall, we walked on top of the yellow wall to the base of this wonder of the age on the edge of the great Sahara Desert, in the road rain down of a beautiful October morning. Face to face with six thousand years. We scanned the huge structure earnestly, but its hugeness did not yet appear. Not even when we saw some of the party some two hundred feet above, appearing to us as pygmies appear to big folks. We were soon surrounded by Bedouins, all degrees, taking us to the summit.

"Are you going up?" asked Mrs. P. "Why certainly," said she from the southland. "Looks like I was," called Mr. J., who had already begun the ascent, grasped by two Bedouins, who pulled him up from stone to stone. Whereupon we signalled to our dragoman to select guides for us and the ascent was begun.

Here the world foregoeth. As we began the ascent we could see where the stones had been worn away by the footsteps of all the millions who had preceded us, and the thought that they would continue to be thus worn away in the long ages that are yet to be, until all the tribes of earth shall rest in her bosom, as now rest the builders of these monuments.

On and up our assistants pulled us, and a few minutes of this upward trend of affairs are sufficient to make the knees of the thing you are climbing feel like lead. Painter and painter of the cries of Bedouins, how and smaller and smaller grow the forms, while there stretches, gradually farther and farther, the great, grand, sublime panoramic picture of the vast, billowy, silent Sahara and the flooded plains of the Nile, here and there dotted with little green islets: such a beautiful green in contrast with the brown and yellow sands of the desert, which was now beginning to gladden and glare in the rays of the morning sun. Far away to the eastward, rising out of the mists of the valley, was the city of the Caliphs.

"Don't! Don't do that," said my guide, as I glanced downward straight along the slanting side of the Pyramid. "You'll get sick and may fall. Don't do it!" He might have saved his breath. It would not be my fault if I did it again. Standing three hundred and ninety feet above the earth on a ledge of rock two feet wide and watching pygmies below is not good for the digestion. At least not as good as looking up. And on we went again.

A sort of cold fear began to grow on me as we ascended, the fear of a plainsman when he has climbed a high mountain and gazes on the kingdoms of the world spread at his feet, the fear of big things which brought to view too suddenly, down and swallow up the little things in grooves of ordinary lines; the fear of strangeness in time and place and people; the fear that six thousand years would suddenly crumble beneath our feet and leave nothing between us and earth except four hundred and twenty-five feet of space. These fears grew and I wanted to sit down. Told the guides I was tired.

"No! No! Right here is the top," one chimed out. And even as he spoke I looked up and saw the blue sky over the top of Cheops. A few steps more and we stood on the summit of the greatest of Time's wonders.

I have told you that there are some things that refuse to be expressed in words and conveyed from mind to mind as ships exchange signals at sea. An inventor can't share his joy at the conclusion of a long but successful pursuit of the law of his machine. A scientist can't part

Standard's Course Not Determined by Counsel

No Move in Regard to Indictments in Hancock County to be Made Until Next Week—Attack is Expected.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 12.—Counsel for the Standard Oil Company has not determined yet what course will be adopted relative to the indictments returned by the Hancock county grand jury last Monday against John D. Rockefeller and other Standard officers, as well as the standard and its subsidiary companies in Ohio.

There has been nothing decided on as yet, said S. H. Tolles, one of the Standard attorneys, last night. With a single thrill that comes to him on the discovery of a great truth. A merchant or a business man knows the pleasure that he feels when his venture has been transformed from idea into fact. And so about all one can do in this case is to use words which seem dead when compared with the reality. If, perchance, you gather something from the reading, it will be worth while. As it stands, Cheops is four hundred and fifty-one feet high. Compared with Pike's Peak, Mt. Everest is not nothing. But there is something around it by which to judge its dimensions. It stands alone except for Cheferon, a companion pyramid. The top was once a point, but is now about thirty feet square, and almost every square inch of its surface is covered with the names of those who have been before us. There was "Prince of Wales" and "Mark Twain" and thousands and thousands of others.

While scanning these names, thinking, maybe one familiar face might chance to be seen; and while thus engaged, the others of the party appeared over the edge. There was a shout as Miss G. the one from Dixie gained the summit. As it happened she was the only lady to gain the summit, Mrs. F. being wrecked on the rock of low skirts.

This was October in Egypt, but the fast climb hardly made us warm. I put on my coat which the guide had carried for me, sat down on a big block, square hewn, nearly at the center, and tried to take things in.

"You want to buy some old coins," said one of my guides, when I had got comfortably seated. "They are from the tomb which you see is nearly excavated. They are about six thousand years old."

"What are those tombs, those little ones there below?" I asked, not noticing the coins.

"Those many tombs you see there were made by the king who built Cheops. In them he buried the poor people and the slaves while he built this Pyramid for himself and his queen," returned the guide, apparently happy in being able to impart this information. He spoke English fluently and seemed to know what he was talking about.

"Nobody knew anything about these sepulchers until a great scientist gave his life finally in exploring the old tombs that were hewn from the solid rock, and these coins are from the one," he continued, but I was not anxious about the coins, so said: "What pyramid is that right there?" pointing to the southwest.

"That is Cheferon, and do you see the cement casing at the top?"

"Yes," I replied. "Well, all the pyramids were just like that once. Some have crumbled, but not many years ago a great khedive took the stones of several smaller pyramids for building mosques in Cairo. He even used a part of Cheops. When you go down you can see how large this one once was."

"How did the old Egyptians get these great blocks of stone up here, anyway?" I inquired, looking at blocks of limestone of some sort which were seven by five by four and weighed many tons.

"You see that causeway there along the edge of the floodlands; well they brought these stones from the other side of the Nile valley, from that big mountain you see across there. They probably drew them up here on sanded slides, by many men pulling ropes," he replied; and continued: "It took one hundred thousand and men thirty years, working in relays of thirty thousand for ten years." I concluded the job had not been done by contract. It was too big. "Now, master, have only a few coins," persisted the guide, fearful of losing a sale. "So that is the Sphinx down there," looking at the little mass of hewn stone far below and to the southeast. "That is the Sphinx, and just beyond it is the Temple of the Sphinx, made of alabaster marble, which was brought from Philae, six hundred miles up the Nile," returned the guide. By beauty is a marvel of architectural art—to preserve the dead for six thousand years, a feat which medical science today cannot perform—when did Egypt's history begin? It takes a long time to learn to do such things, so long, indeed, that we are not yet able to do some of the things that were done then. Truly, there are many things in this world which passeth understanding. But with all this buried greatness, today a foreign flag floats over the citadel of the Caliphs—the home of Cleopatra and the land of the Pharaohs. On the streets and elsewhere, the descendants of a decadent race, with-out shame, cry to you, "baksheesh!" "baksheesh!" The why of all things is not given anybody to know, but it would seem that the greatness of a nation and the welfare of its people are not synonymous terms. There is a higher law than material well-being, which if a nation does not observe, it will die even as Egypt died and was buried.

Even as I write, the billowy mountains of southern Spain are viewed by all with more than passing interest. On some high promontories, stand watch-towers, relics of the Moors. Little (from this distance) villages dot the shores, nestled snugly under the brows of friendly mountains, whose vine-covered slopes are green or dark in the scattered sunshine, while far up in the hollow of the summit is perched a monastery. It is Granada. Over the billowy waves of mountains lies the famous city, the "Alhambra" of our own Irving. Tomorrow, October 20th, we will anchor before Gibraltar.

THE BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATIONS IN LIMA.

Many people who have visited Lima have been impressed with the fact that our homes are nearly all of a substantial nature and in that and many other ways are superior to those of other cities of the same size.

The first thought is that Lima must have a large portion of her citizens that are better off than in other cities or they could not afford the class of homes they are occupying, when in reality most of the homes were built with money borrowed from the building and loan associations.

The Citizens' Building & Loan Association organized 1882 has about $300,000 of mortgages on city property.

Standing thus on top of six thousand years, a vast desert on one hand a great river at flood on the other, the great Pyramid, itself tomb of a dead king whose mummified body lay at Cairo, exposed to the gaze of the idly curious and the earnestly thoughtful, and surrounded by the buried sepulchers of his subjects, sopechurs hewn in a mountain of rock for their peaceful repose, now exposed and ransacked because the present world is curious to know and understand—to stand there in the midst of life and death, on the dead and with the living, there comes the thought that—"All is vanity," when measured in such terms.

Egypt is dead. Her greatness lies in her buried treasures. But if such tremendous things were done six thousand years ago—to build pyramids whose sides have been used as lines for astronomical calculations, every stone mathematically exact unless disturbed by the rude hands of later days—to build temples whose

ROUNDHEAD MEN
FIND "DRY HOLE"

Not Discouraged. However and Will Try Other Places—Thousands of Dollars Invested in Search For Elusive "Pay Liquid."

Failure in one spot only encourages all prospectors near Roundhead to renewed energy in other places. The oil well drilled on the Breece farm near Roundhead by Breece and Myers was abandoned Tuesday. The drill had penetrated sand to such a depth without a trace of "pay dirt" that the casing was drawn and the well abandoned. Prospects were so small that the well will not be shot. However, this failure has not daunted the prospectors as they have announced that another well will be drilled, probably not until spring. They have many thousands of dollars invested and one or two more wells with a capacity of some that are already completed will yield a

"We always tell our sick and ailing friends of the remedies that we have learned, from experience, were good for us when ailing in the same way, and we do it as a duty we feel that we owe them."

"Why is it any the less our duty to advise all the people we can when we know of a good and comparatively inexpensive remedy that makes many cures, and benefits in almost all cases?"

"My own little personal experience of being relieved of deafness, caused by a siege of catarrh, warrants me in advising all the afflicted to just try Pe-ru-na."

Peculiar Accident

On the Erie Railroad—Freight Car Dragged Over the Ties From Caledonia to Martel.

Extra Erie freight train No. 1700 east bound, in charge of conductor Larnius, was peculiarly wrecked at Caledonia at 12:30 o'clock Thursday morning. The train consisted of forty-five heavily loaded cars, and when pulling out of a siding at Caledonia, a broken break beam caught on a switch frog, and derailed a box car, which was heavily loaded with flour.

The derailed car was not noticed by the conductor, and the train pulled out of Caledonia, dragging the car on the ties. The car bumped along, damaging the rails and ties until the train reached Martel, when it was finally discovered. It was necessary to call the Gallon wrecking crew and the damaged car was removed. The flour was badly damaged. That a serious wreck did not occur was little less than miraculous as bolts were cut off and spikes torn out all along the line between Caledonia and Martel.

The derailed car was not noticed by the conductor, and the train pulled out of Caledonia, dragging the car on the ties. The car bumped along, damaging the rails and ties until the train reached Martel, when it was finally discovered. It was necessary to call the Gallon wrecking crew and the damaged car was removed. The flour was badly damaged. That a serious wreck did not occur was little less than miraculous as bolts were cut off and spikes torn out all along the line between Caledonia and Martel.

Recommends Pe-ru-na to the Afflicted.

Brig. Gen. D. T. Kirby, Washington, D. C., writes concerning Pe-ru-na, as follows:

"Friends of mine having used your Pe-ru-na catarrh cure with good results, I am impressed with its curative qualities, and can recommend it to those who are afflicted."

An Invigorating Tonic.

Rear-Admiral Hichborn, U. S. Navy, Washington, D. C., writes:

"After the use of Pe-ru-na for a short period, I can now cheerfully recommend your valuable remedy to any one who is in need of an invigorating tonic."

For Catarrh of the Stomach.

Gen. W. W. Duffield, Washington, D. C., writes:

"I have used Pe-ru-na in my family and have found it a valuable medicine and take pleasure in recommending it to all who suffer from catarrh of the stomach or who require a tonic of prompt efficacy."

DEAFNESS CAUSED BY CATARRH—RELIEVED BY PE-RU-NA.

Gen. A. M. Legg, writes from the Savings Bank Building, Washington, D. C., as follows:

"I take pleasure in endorsing the many recommendations I have heard and read of Pe-ru-na, because of having had knowledge of the truth of so many of them."

"We always tell our sick and ailing friends of the remedies that we have learned, from experience, were good for us when ailing in the same way, and we do it as a duty we feel that we owe them."

"Why is it any the less our duty to advise all the people we can when we know of a good and comparatively inexpensive remedy that makes many cures, and benefits in almost all cases?"

"My own little personal experience of being relieved of deafness, caused by a siege of catarrh, warrants me in advising all the afflicted to just try Pe-ru-na."

Kidney Disease

Nature has given you kidneys to keep your blood clean and pure. As the blood flows through them the waste matter it brings from all over your body is filtered out through millions of little tubes, so small that they can be seen only under a microscope. Unless these tiny tubes are kept open, waste matter accumulates in your blood.

If the blood is chilled in any part of your body, or held back by pressure or injury, uric acid turns into little crystals, resembling sharp grains of fine sand. Over-feeding also may produce so much waste matter that your blood can't keep the uric acid dissolved, and the crystals are formed. Your kidneys cannot pass these crystals—they lodge and collect in the little filtering tubes, where they scratch and irritate the tender fibres, just as grains of sand would do in your eye. This irritation causes the pain in your back which warns you of kidney disease, Bright's Disease and death.

At the very first sign of kidney disease, you must take LIFE PLANT. LIFE PLANT has the power of dissolving the hard uric acid grains, being provided by Nature for just that purpose. You will feel relief from the first, and in a short time LIFE PLANT will have gently washed every trace of uric acid out of your kidneys (or wherever else it may exist) and give the organ back its blood-purifying powers. Thousands have saved themselves by taking LIFE PLANT. Read what Mr. John Lemon, of Wadsworth, Ohio, says:

"It is good to your medicine, I think I can't be best in the world. One day I was so bad that I could not walk. I took one bottle and can say that I feel alright. My kidneys trouble me and I was dizzy in my head. That has been all left me. I think one more bottle will fix me all right. I can't say too much for Life Plant."

If you have any trouble whatever, write your symptoms to I. J. Mizer, M. D., President of the Life Plant Co., who will send you his personal advice, free. Our book—GOOD HEALTH—mailed to anyone free on request.

THE LIFE PLANT CO., Canton, O.

Toledo, O., 12.—A device that will absolutely prevent railroad collisions, whether the engineer is sick, drunk, dead or alive at the throttle, is what Dr. W. S. Pille, of Toledo, Ohio, claims to have invented. He wants to test it on the streets of Toledo Monday if the mayor will give permission.

Pille offers himself to be bound in the vestibule of an interurban, with no one else on board, the car to be headed for the Cherry street bridge and the draw to be left open, his safety device to be set for 20 feet from the draw. He will take the chances on his life if the company will take the chances on the car. The device will occupy a space of 16 by 24 inches. When set for a certain point on the line it will sand the track, apply the airbrakes and absolutely stop the car or train in time.

Because of the softened condition of the county roads as a result of the open weather, the county commissioners are exceptionally vigilant in attempting to detect violators of the law prohibiting the hauling of heavy loads. As yet, however, there have been no prosecutions.

Copies of the law are posted at cross roads in almost every important point in the county, and the farmers and others using the roads are familiar with its provisions. The law says that wagons with wheels having tires less than three inches in width shall not carry a load weighing more than 3,400, the wagon's weight included. Wagons with wheels having tires less than four inches in width may carry 3,900 pounds, weight of vehicle included. For wagons with tires less than six inches in width the limit, vehicle included is 4,400 pounds, while a load weighing 6,000 pounds may be carried on wagons with tires eight or more inches in width, this, as in other instances, to include the vehicle.

All persons violating any of the above regulations are liable to prosecution, and all township trustees and road supervisors of the county are specially appointed and directed by the commissioners to cause the prosecution of offenders.

KEEPING TAB

Traction Men Stationed at Depot Watching C. H. & D.—Western Ohio is Counting Passengers That Board and Leave All Railroad Trains.

The Western Ohio Railway company yesterday, it is alleged, placed men at all stations on the C. H. & D. railroad, where the traction company competes for local traffic with the railway companies. No information can be gained from the men who are watching trains as they arrive at and depart from the railroad stations, but the care with which these men observe the passengers who board and alight from railroad trains indicates that they are keeping tab on travelers. For some reason the Western Ohio traction people want to know how much local traffic there is on the railroad lines with which they are in competition. Just what this information is wanted for or why the traction company's representatives are actually counting the railroad passengers cannot be definitely ascertained. How long the policy will be kept up is also a matter of presumption.

The men are changed each day, moved from one city to another, likely to prevent arousing suspicion on the part of railway employees who would report the surveillance to headquarters.—Piquette Leader-Dispatch.

Condemnation Proceedings

Will Be Resorted to in Securing Right of Way for the New Lima, Kenton & Marion Traction Line.

The Columbus, Magneto Springs & Northern Electric railroad has begun proceedings in the probate court of Kenton to condemn a strip of land thirty feet wide through the farm of Martin L. Anderson, three miles north of Richmond. Mr. Anderson declined to consent to a right of way through his farm, although the company has secured practically the entire right of way between Richmond and LaRue. Taking recourse to the law applicable to such cases the road applied to the probate court through its attorney, A. C. Egger, of Richmond.

The C. M. S. & N. is a line Vande-grift and Ogan are building to join the proposed L. K. & M. at LaRue. Vandegrift and Ogan will take the same course to bring some kicking land owners to time between Kenton and Lima.

The Round Table will meet on Monday afternoon, with Mrs. Robinson.

The first of a series of winter parties given by Lima Council 436 Knights of Columbus in their lodge rooms, which occupy the entire fifth floor of the Holland Building, Thursday evening was a decided success. About two hundred were present and a good social time was greatly enjoyed. Peculiar is Point

WITH THE SUM OF ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS HINGED UPON A SINGLE LETTER.

One of the most peculiar points ever raised in law confronted Justice Dempster this morning.

Upon the identity of one letter in a word depends whether the defendant in the suit, J. L. Barth, the well known wall paper dealer and decorator, owes one hundred dollars to the plaintiff, the Robert Graves Company, a wholesale concern in New York, or not.

Last fall Mr. Barth sent a check for one hundred dollars to the plaintiff company as part payment of a bill of about nine hundred dollars for merchandise supplied. The check for some reason was protested, and the New York concern, becoming alarmed, sent a special representative here to make a settlement. After a conference, it was agreed to settle for the sum of one hundred and sixty-seven dollars. The argument is whether this included the check in question or not. The receipt in full sent from New York to Mr. Barth alludes to it either as "protected" or "protected." Under the microscope the letter looks as much like a "c" as it does like an "s."

Justice Dempster, after hearing all the evidence, gave the opinion that if the word is "protected" Mr. Barth is not liable for the amount. If, on the other hand, the word is "protected," he is liable and will have to pay the amount. At his suggestion the matter will be deferred to the person who wrote the receipt, and upon his decision the matter of liability now depends.

FARM SOLD

To Satisfy a Partition Suit Brought $9,075.

The Clark farm, consisting of ten acres in Richland township and one hundred and sixty acres in Jackson township, was sold at sheriff's sale.

WE ARE AUTHORIZED TO SELL

All 1906 styles now in stock which have been altered in the 1907 catalogues, so that none may be left on our floor when we take our annual inventory February first. This simply means that you can purchase of last year's case design in several leading makes which you know are absolutely reliable in every way.

At a Remarkable Saving in Price

If you take advantage of this splendid opportunity at once. We are at all times conservative advertisers, advertising only what we have and thus keep faith with our patrons. The various manufacturers frequently change the styles in case designs of their pianos, issue new catalogues and thereby necessitate the large dealers who carry a big stock to dispose of the old styles at a sacrifice; well while it is a disadvantage to the dealer, it proves a bonanza to the economical buyer because the change of case design in no manner effects the quality of a piano.

WE WILL ALSO OFFER AT THIS TIME FIVE SAMPLE PIANOS OF WELL KNOWN MAKES and THREE SLIGHTLY USED PIANOS any of which afford splendid opportunities to those who are in a position to take advantage of this SPECIAL REDUCTION. We respectfully suggest that all persons interested should call early and get first choice, as all discontinued styles and sample pianos must be disposed of.

Before February First 1907.

A PECULIAR WINTER.

Surely people living in Allen county cannot complain as to continuous cold weather this winter. We have had very mild weather since fall set in with one exception when the thermometer dropped to the neighborhood of zero.

Recently a letter from the neighborhood of Tampa, Florida, reported the weather very cold and much damage done to the vegetables but none of the fruit trees were hurt. People along the rivers waded in the shallow waters with baskets on their arms and picked up baskets full of fish that had become chilled in the cold waters and were unable to swim to deeper water where it was warmer.

A letter from California received this week reports the first snow at San Francisco in many years. Many young men and young ladies residing in that vicinity saw it snow for the first time in their lives. The people all turned out and snow balled each other and in some places the crowds would number as high as two or three hundred.

During our warm and wet spell a couple of weeks ago the frogs came out and sang their usual summer songs. Many snakes were killed at that time in this and adjoining counties. We found a small mushroom on our back lot where we generally gather a bounteous crop in the spring time. Some report that the ducks and geese were seen going north but we are sure we did not see any blue birds.—Lima Advertiser

HIGHEST TRUMP CARDS.

The Pittsburg Sunday Dispatch clears the Board With Extra Fine Features.

The Pittsburg Sunday Dispatch is always doing something surprising but its latest coup really takes every trick and leaves the table clear. Its tabloid magazine section of 32 pages, printed on superfine paper and artistically illustrated, outshines every opposition in that line, and now there have been added four new comic pages, making the greatest comic department published in any newspaper. All the old favorites—Peck's Bad Boy, The Grappling Bird, Madge the Magic Daughter and the rest—have been retained, and another complete set, including Val the Ventriloquist, Barney Blue, Little Allright, Saw-ye-ye Sim and still more, have been added, making a series of comics easily a thousand laughs.

Hereafter our store will not be open any more on nights of the Pay days. For the benefit of our sales people, our store will close every night at 6 o'clock, except Saturday night.
